Busing Question in Reverse

Far from the attitude of much of the country's citizenry which doesn't want children bused to school, many East Side parents are seeking transportation for their young children who have had to find their own way to school this year because of the break-down of a program which provided transportation the past two years. Some 45 students watched this partly empty bus go by this morning as they waited for a way to school. (Sun Photo by Larry Warrington)

Pioneer Village Given Bates Wire Collection

One of the newest tourist attractions now on display at Pioneer Village in Jester Memorial Park is a mounted display of various types of barbed wire which the late Tommie J. Bates, Commissioners maintenance foreman of the state highway department, collected.

Bate's family presented the collection to the Village this week as a memorial. He began his collection, most of which was found in Navarro County, five years ago. Friends brought him specimens they had found.

The late highway department employe was nominated for the "Lady Bird Johnson Award for Beautification of Highways" in 1971 and 1972. His family donated the collection in the belief this would fulfull his desire to display the collection with every type of wire used in the early days when open range first fenced. "We are pleased to receive this collection and having recessed at their want the public to see it as a display attraction at emergency meeting Wednesday Pioneer Village and get the same enjoyment Mr. at which they canvassed the Bates got in collecting it," Mrs. Putman said. # School Board Hires Attorney M. Dawson

The Corsicana Independent School District Board of Trustees, meeting in what was called an "emergency budget session" at noon today, voted to hire attorney Matt Dawson to represent the schools in the court action due for a hearing Tuesday regarding enforcement of the school dress code.

The schools are currently under court order banning enforcement of the code requiring short hair for boys.

The Board also directed school financial official Euin Frank to study the problem of transportation for some 50 East Side students ineligible for state-required transportation to school but living nearly two miles from Houston School.
